

Gluten free restaurant guide

UK - Central London

July 2016 v1.6

How to use the list:

- Restaurants are grouped into broad London 'areas' (eg The West End which includes Covent Garden and Soho, Holborn, Docklands etc). For a visual depiction and written descriptions of these central London areas, you can use a map such as <http://www.yourbestlondon.com/maps/#areas>.
- You can also search by tube station (eg Charing Cross). Often several tube stations are listed for the one restaurant as it is between several stations.
- Some key tourist areas are also listed (eg Spitalfields market - but this is incomplete) and can be searched on.
- Restaurants with their name in italics have clear information regarding gluten free (you may have to ask for an allergy or gluten free menu).
- Where known, vegan/vegetarian options are mentioned, and other intolerances catered for listed (WF = Wheat Free, DF = Dairy free, SF = Sugar Free, EF = Egg free).

NOTE: This is an ever-evolving list- please check back for updates and please contribute any suggestions via the contact form at www.thecoeliacplate.com

For an overview of the chain restaurants that are available in London, please see the document 'Intro to Gluten Free' at <http://thecoeliacplate.com/visiting-the-uk/>. For 100% gluten free restaurants, please see <http://thecoeliacplate.com/london-100-gluten-free/>
